

I signed the Do Not Call list for only one purpose. To STOP the constant influx of unwanted telemarketing calls. I was getting up to 9 calls a night and it became so affecting, that I could actually feel my blood pressure rise whenever the phone rang. Please consider MY rights in your decision. Besides, what makes a telemarketer think that if I am forced to once again deal with their annoyances, that I would EVER buy something they're trying to sell me? That's a big duh huh, if you ask me. Thanks, Jill
